Fall Air and Fresh Finds

Dear educators,

As you settle into the rhythm of a new school year, PBS Wisconsin Education is here with ready-to-go content and resources to help make the year a success.

First, check out the all-new Wisconsin Biographies story on artist Georgia O'Keeffe. Then, explore resources on the content you need this season, including:

- A collection of civics resources curated by us
- Fun fall activities for little learners

Finally, take a look at our new impact report to learn about our work this past year and how we can support you in your learning space.

Happy exploring!

Painting her own way

Through determination and creativity, Georgia O'Keeffe changed American art and showed future generations that it's possible to succeed by staying true to your vision. Teach about O'Keeffe with the new Wisconsin Biographies story, featuring an animated video, digital book, and more. (Grades 3-6)

Civics for all ages

From Constitution Day (9/17) to National Good Neighbor Day (9/28) and beyond, fall is full of built-in opportunities for civics instruction. Quickly find resources from trusted PBS sources on our Civics Resources page. Looking for more guidance? Fill out the form to request professional learning with us!

Fall into fun

Autumn is the perfect time to explore leaves as they change colors and start to fall. Watch this short clip from Dinosaur Train and use the accompanying activities to examine leaves and document observations! Activities available in English and Spanish. (Grades PreK-K)

Behind the scenes with PBS Wisconsin Education

Madison-Area Out-of-School-Time (MOST) Conference

Educators had a blast trying games and activities from the upcoming Whoopensocket collection at the MOST Conference! The collection, which offers fun, scaffolded lessons to build confidence in writing, will launch later this month.
